

BALLARD HELD TO GRAND JURY

On Charge of Malicious Cutting and His Bond Is Fixed at $300—Case Attracted Much Attention.

John Ballard was tried before Judge F. P. Pendleton Thursday night on a charge of malicious shooting without wounding, and held to await the action of the grand jury which will convene next week. His bond was fixed at $300.

Owing to the popularity of Mr. Ballard, who has been deputy policeman for many years, the case has attracted a great deal of attention and the court room was crowded when the case was called for trial.

Ballard was being tried for shooting at Tom Smith, colored on Thanksgiving night. The shooting occurred in the police office and after a heated discussion between Chief McCord, Ballard and the negro. The negro was working at the colored skating rink when Ballard went to him and told him that he must go with him to the police headquarters and straighten out lies he had been telling the chief about him. When they arrived at the station the negro made a statement that Ballard did not like and he jumped up out of the chair he was sitting in, pulled his pistol and told him that he would kill him. He walked over to where the negro was sitting and would have killed him had the negro not caught the pistol and pushed it away from him. The pistol was discharged, but the bullet went past the negro's head and out through the large glass window.

Deputy Strode caught the pistol after the first shot was fired, and the negro ran away. The deputy policeman was immediately suspended by Mayor J. A. Hughes and Chief of Police McCord, and is now off of duty. At the time the shooting occurred, Chief of Police McCord, deputy policeman Strode and Mr. Will Dolph, a tailor, were present and Thursday night testified for the Commonwealth. Ballard was the only witness introduced by the defendant. Following is the testimony:

Examination by County Attorney Davis:

Q. You were the first witness called and testified as follows: I know Mr. John Ballard. Mr. Ballard fired a shot in my presence one night last week. The first I saw of Mr. Ballard on this night was at the colored skating rink. Ballard came over there and took me back to the police court room. The shot was fired in the police court room in the presence of Mr. McCord, William Dolph, and deputy policeman Strode. Mr. Ballard came to the skating rink and took me to the police court room. I was sitting back in a chair when Ballard came up to me with his pistol in his hand. The reason Mr. Ballard became angry at me was because he wanted me to say that Mr. McCord threatened to put me in jail if I did not tell certain facts in a certain way which Mr. Ballard was connected with and I would not do it.

I do not remember the exact conversation that occurred before the shooting occurred. I was not doing a thing to Mr. Ballard before he shot at me. The first I saw of the pistol was when he first got out of his chair. Cross examination by Mr. J. M. Stevenson, attorney for defendant: I was sitting near the door when Mr. Ballard shot at me. Mr. Ballard was sitting a little distance off, with Mr. McCord sitting across the room. Mr. Strode was sitting near me. Mr. Ballard came to the rink after me and I did not go to him and volunteer to come up to the police station and make any statement. I did not tell Mr. Ballard not to believe any tale that would be told him nor did I deny any statement he said that I had made. Mr. Ballard only spoke three words to me at the skating rink. I did not go to the police station until Mr. Ballard said "come with me. We will prove these things." After I got up there I said to Mr. McCord "Didn't I come up and get you?" I have thought of this case a great deal and know I was shot at for nothing. I never said that Mr. McCord came and got me and took me any place.

I was the first to catch Ballard's pistol. After the shot was fired, Mr. Strode turned around and grabbed it. My face was powder burned and forehead skinned up with the pistol. I am 42 years old.

Examination by Judge Pendleton: Judge, I will tell you just what occurred at the skating rink. Ballard came up to me and said: "What are you talking about me for? You lied on me last year and I don't propose to stand it any longer." He then said for me to come on down to the police station with him. I never made a reply, but went.

Mr. Strode's testimony: I am a member of the police force and was present when the shooting occurred last Thanksgiving night between John Ballard and Tom Smith. The negro followed Mr. Ballard in the door and sat near me. The first words spoken was when Mr. Ballard said to Mr. McCord: "What do I hear about you arresting Tom Smith and making him make a false statement about me?" Before the conversation was finished the negro denied telling Ballard that Mr. McCord threatened him with arrest or punishment if he did not make certain statements about Ballard and when the negro did this Ballard pulled his pistol and said he would kill him. I caught the pistol. Smith had no pistol or weapon of any kind at the time the shooting occurred and was making no effort to fight Ballard before the shooting occurred.

Cross examination by Mr. Stevenson:

I do not know what caused the pistol to be discharged. The ball went through the window glass two or three feet away from Smith. I never heard Ballard say Smith had lied on him before. After the pistol was discharged the negro slipped down and out of his chair and ran out of the door. I held the gun a few minutes after the negro had left the building. Ballard commanded me to let go the pistol and I did a few seconds later. He then put it in his pocket.

Will Dolph, examined by County Attorney S. T. Davis:

I was present when the shooting occurred in the police court room last Thanksgiving night. Ballard came into the office with Smith. After the two men had gotten into the office Ballard turned to Mr. McCord and said: "Did you threaten to arrest this negro Smith and put him in jail if he did not make certain statements?" Mr. McCord said that he did not make any threats but that Smith had come to him complaining about Ballard. Ballard then turned to the negro and said: "Did you not make those statements to me?" and Smith said he did not. Ballard then said he did not propose to be advertised by Smith and would kill him. He pulled his pistol, cocked it and walked over to the negro. Only one shot was fired. The shot was fired before Strode caught the gun, I think.

Woodson, McCord, examined by County Attorney S. T. Davis:

I am Chief of Police of Winchester and was present when the shooting occurred on Thanksgiving night. John Ballard walked into the office with Tom Smith. Both men took seats and Ballard asked me why I made Tom Smith make certain statements under a threat. I told Ballard I had not made Smith tell anything and this was corroborated by Smith. When Smith told Ballard that he never made the statement to him that he had threatened him with imprisonment if he did not make certain statements, Ballard became angry and stepped over to Smith with the pistol cocked in his hand. When Ballard made Strode let go of the pistol I stepped over to Ballard and said: "Ballard, don't shoot that negro."

Cross examination by Mr. Stevenson:

The pistol must not have been pointed exactly at Smith when it was discharged or he would have been killed. The pistol was pointed dangerously close, though.

John Ballard, examined by Mr. Stevenson:

Tom Smith called me to the cloak room of the colored skating rink. Thanksgiving night and told me not to believe a word the negroes were telling me. I said: "Well, come on and go up to the police station with me." I did not intend to shoot Smith. I was angry and intended to hit him with the pistol though. I do not know what made the pistol go off. The negro grabbed the pistol with both hands and we both held to it and I was afraid of being shot myself. I never intended shooting him, but I did feel that he needed hitting.

Cross examination by County Attorney S. T. Davis:

If I said "I will kill the negro" that night I do not remember it and do not remember cocking the pistol. The reason I became angry was that I heard the negro was telling lies on me.

The new monster pension fund will go into effect January 1 next.

STRANGE CASE OF APHASIA

Causes Victim to Stare Vacantly Unable to Understand or Answer Questions Intelligently.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The attack of aphasia which caused Thomas R. Young, President of the Brownsville (Penn.) Engineering Company, and one of the wealthiest business men of that city, to walk into the apartment of Mrs. Mary Menahan at No. 201 East Sixty-sixth street, Tuesday, for which he was arrested on a charge of burglary, is puzzling the physician at Bellevue Hospital, where he is now confined under observation.

Mr. Young came to New York Sunday night on business. He carried $200 in cash and $30,000 in bank bonds of the Gates Coal and Coke Company. On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Menahan was sitting in her apartment when a strange man opened the door and entered. Mrs. Menahan says she was startled for a moment, expecting the man was bent on burglary. He attempted no violence, however, and Mrs. Menahan observed that he had a fixed stare and acted as if he were in a trance. She took him by the shoulders and pushed him out into the hall. Then she sent for a policeman and had the man locked up. He was arraigned before Magistrate Krotel in the Yorkville Court Wednesday.

Magistrate Krotel said: "This looks to me like a singular case of aphasia, and I think Mr. Young had better go to Bellevue for observation. What do you think about it, prisoner?"

Young stared blankly at the Magistrate, but evidently did not comprehend his words. He made no reply.

L. G. Mosler, of Mr. Young's firm communicated with Bellevue on the long-distance telephone. Mr. Young's family is away from Brownsville on a visit and probably have not heard of his illness.

BIG SLUMP IN TOBACCO PRICES

Burley Society Orders the Hogsheads That Had Been Placed on the Breaks to Be Recovered.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 2.—Prices took such a decided slump Thursday that the Burley Society called off the sales at both the Farmers' and Shippers' and the Buckeye warehouses and ordered the hogsheads of tobacco that had been uncovered and placed on the breaks to be recovered.

More than 300 hogsheads of tobacco were ready for sale when the order came.

"The prices we obtained at the Bodmann warehouse Thursday morning were so low that to sell would mean almost a dead loss and we were forced to discontinue the sale," said Fred Stuey, of Ghent, Ky., a member of the executive committee of the society, when asked about the sudden order.

T. H. Kirk again was the heaviest buyer, purchasing 134 hogsheads at $5.20 to $14. J. B. Heizer bid in 50 hogsheads at from $5.90 to $10; the American Tobacco Company 64 at $7.75 to $15.75; Spillman & Ellis, 33 at $5.95 to $17; T. S. Hamilton 31 at $5.25 to $6.95; E. W. London 19 at $5.95 to $8; T. S. Dohmann 10 at $5.20 to $9.30; C. MacIntyre 8 at $12.75 to $16.75; W. Walker, 6 at $8.90 to $10; W. D. Collins 3 and the Thatcher Company one hogshead. The sales by warehouses were as follows:

Globe Warehouse—200 hogsheads: 79 at $4.95 to $7.95, 33 at $8 to $9.95, 57 at $10 to $13, 31 at $13 to $17.

Bodmann Warehouse—172 hogsheads: 87 at $5 to $7.95, 38 at $8 to $9.95, 34 at $10 to $13, 13 at $13 to $17.

FATALLY STABBED

ON PUBLIC HIGHWAY

Dead Man Was Father of Durbot Perkins, Who Was Poisoned Several Weeks Ago.

VALLEY VIEW, Ky., Dec. 2.—Breckenridge Perkins, 47 years of age, was stabbed and killed Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock by Reese Coates when the two men became engaged in a quarrel three miles north of here on the road. Coates stabbed Perkins twice in the face and once in the back of the head. The wound in the head was fatal, as Coates' knife split Perkins' skull so that the brain ran out. Perkins died about two hours later.

The trouble occurred when Perkins and his wife, who had been to Richmond, met Coates in the road near their homes, which are close together, as they were returning Tuesday evening. Coates is a tenant on Perkins' farm, both of the men being farmers, and they had had a quarrel some time ago about the rent. When they met Tuesday afternoon Perkins got out of his buggy and the two men eluded, with the result told of above. Coates was arrested immediately and, being unable to give bond, is still in custody.

Perkins was the father of Durbot Perkins, the youth who was poisoned several weeks ago by eating a stale water melon.

TO BAR CLERGY FROM BUSINESS

Pontifical Decree Governing Priests and Bishops in U. S., To Be Made Public This Week.

ROME, Dec. 2.—Fifteen thousand priests and bishops of the United States will learn this week the terms of the pontifical decree which affects them as well as all the other clergy and the religious orders of the Catholic Church.

In it the pope lays down a series of very severe rules regarding their participation in business affairs of all kinds. They are strictly forbidden to take a active part in financial enterprises, even in those which have a charitable scope, or to lend their names or influences to any business speculation.

This decree is to be embodied in a new code of the canon law which will be published at the end of next year, but it goes into force immediately with the beginning of 1911. This law is fixed for all bishops of America, North and South. All of them will then be obliged to furnish a most elaborate report to the consistorial congregation regarding their dioceses. It is rumored that early in the new year the Italian government will propose the abolition of the article of the constitution which proclaims the Catholic Church as the religion of the State.

HYDROPHOBIA CAUSES DEATH

Kindness on Part of Little Margaret Dupraz, Who Fendled Dog, Ends Fatally.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 2.—An act of kindness on the part of little Margaret Dupraz, 12 years of age, in rescuing a stray dog from the gutter in front of her home, 120 Bellaire avenue where it had been kicked by a little boy, probably was the cause of the child's death of hydrophobia. Drs. Smock and Grasser, who attended the child, say that her death was caused by a virulent case of hydrophobia.

Little Margaret Dupraz's suffering was intense, according to the watchers at her bedside. At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the child went into convulsions. These continued until her death at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, gradually becoming more severe as the day advanced. At 6 o'clock the child was able to recognize her father as he bent over her bedside. Shortly afterward she lost consciousness and remained so until her death.

The child was bitten about three months ago. She was playing on her front porch when a stray dog was kicked into the gutter by a pedestrian at whom the animal snapped.

Little Margaret's heart was touched in sympathy for the dumb brute and running into the street, picked the dog up and carried it to the porch where she tried to nurse it. The animal snapped, inflicting a slight scratch on the right thumb. This was canterized at the time and the incident was forgotten by the child and her family.

Last Sunday morning the little girl failed to get up and complained to her mother that she felt a tingling in her right thumb where she had been bitten.

"It starts at my thumb, mother and runs up my arm to the back of my head, where it stops," the child said.

The child was kept from Sunday school and administered to in the hopes that the sensation would abate. Her condition gradually grew worse the sensations in the hand ceased to tingle and began to ache until the pains became so severe that convulsions and spasms followed.

SALOON KEEPERS ARE ARRESTED

Charges That Nine Barrooms Continue to Sell Liquors, In Spite of Local Option Law.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Dec. 2.—C. Hayes Nunnally on Wednesday swore out affidavits to the effect that nine bar rooms of this town continue to sell spirituous liquors, although local option is now in effect throughout Scott county. Upon these affidavits warrants were issued by Acting Judge M. H. Hagard and served by County Sheriff Ed Smith and Deputy Mulligan immediately.

Several attempts had been made to have various officers close the saloons but without effect, because the officers denied their authority to act in the matter.

The "drys" contend that local option went into effect upon the filing of the mandate, whereas the opposition asserts that it must become a matter of record in open court.

Both sides are acting upon legal advice.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

When we first came to Winchester twenty-five years ago there was not a store in the city that had a free delivery wagon. There was no telephone system, no street car line.
When the citizens wanted to buy things they went direct to the store
and wagged their purchases home.
There was a mutual friendship between the storekeeper and his customer. They met often and exchanged friendly greetings. There were plenty of seats around the stove where friends could sit and talk with each other.

What changes have come in a quarter of a century. We ride on the street car and order what we want over the telephone, and a delivery wagon brings it. This is all very convenient but it is not more satisfactory and is more expensive.

We must pay for the telephone and pay for the delivery wagon indirectly. The consumer pays the tax. We seldom see our merchant, and do not know what we have bought until it comes to the house. Of course living is high. We must pay the piper. We buy on credit, necessitating additional expense to the merchant in bookkeeping. We must necessarily pay more than if we paid cash.

This is an era of extravagance.
We are paying too much money for the necessities of life and spending too much for things that are not necessary. We are going too fast and we will continue to go, until we run against something, and then there will be a smash. We have forgotten the years 1893-6. We need to come to our senses.

NO LONGER INTERESTED.

When the present Tariff law was under discussion, Representative Ralph Cole of Ohio received many letters and telegrams asking him to see to it that there was a good stiff Tariff on wool.

One man in particular in Cole's district was most insistent and persistent. He sent in some kind of a message every day, such as "Protect the wool growers," "American wool growers must be protected!" "Don't overlook the claim of the wool growers!" and so on.

Finally Cole wrote to this man that he was for highly protected wool and intended to work for it and get it, and that it might be just as well if the telegrams ceased.

Cole heard nothing for three weeks. Then he got a letter from the man who had been pestering him.
It read: "As regards the Tariff on wool act on your own discretion. I have sold all my sheep."—Port-Hur-

from working their personal interests

IN FAVOR OF THE DEFENSE

Are Decisions in Trial of Hattie Le-Blanc, a Pretty Nova Scotia Girl,
For Murder.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 2.—Two decisions in favor of the defense in the trial of Hattie LeBlanc, a pretty Nova Scotia girl, charged with the murder of Clarence F. Glover, the accusation by the defendant's counsel that Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow, had the motive, inclination and opportunity to shoot her husband,
were the developments in the case Wednesday. Mrs. Glover is a cousin of the defendant.

District Attorney Higgins fought hard to get before the jury Glover's dying declaration that Hattie Le-Blanc had shot him. Judge Bond overruled him, however, saying, after hearing 14 witnesses, that the evidence did not show that Glover knew his end was near. The District Attorney told the Court the "dying declaration" was one of the essential props of the Government's case, and that only circumstantial evidence remained.

The prosecution had not gone far when it found that the defense was seeking to turn the attack to Mrs.
Glover.

"I expect to prove this," said Attorney Johnson, for the defense, "by the acts and declarations of this woman before and after her husband's murder. I desire to show that she was a vampire, and I use the word advisedly."

Judge Bond decided to repeat his method of weighing the evidence before allowing it to be submitted to the jury. This evidence was given by Dr. N. W. Conzons, who owns the private hospital to which Glover was taken after he was shot. Dr. Conzons told of calling Mrs. Glover by telephone, of her coming to the hospital of her refusal to see her husband and of her request that she be notified in case of Mr. Glover's death.

The prosecution then called Mrs.
Glover. She told of her discovery of the alleged relations between her husband and the defendant. She explained her failure to see her husband at the hospital by saying she was faint.

Although officers searched her house twice and she searched it once, it was not until three days after the alleged murder that Hattie LeBlanc was found hiding under a bed in one of the rooms. How she came there the witness did not know.

TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Case of Commonwealth vs. Wendling, Charged With Murder in Leuisville, Progresses Rapidly.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 2.—"If I killed the little girl, no one saw me but God and He can't come down and testify."

With the testimony of Chief of Detectives Carney of the Louisville force, that Joseph Wendling had made the foregoing statement immediately following his arrest in San Francisco
the prosecution in the trial of Wendling, who is charged with murdering Alma Kellner, rested its case Thursday.

The words attributed to Wendling
by the officer had previously been testified to by Detective Sergeant Thos. F. Burke of San Francisco, who assisted in the capture of Wendling.

Next to the testimony of the two detectives most interest was excited by the evidence of Mrs. Cora Munen, a milliner of Hume, Mo., to whom Wendling paid court while she was visiting relatives at Houston, Texas.
Mrs. Munen testified that Wendling represented himself to be a rich Frenchman and showed a wound in his hand which he claimed to have received during the Boer war.

Wendling displayed no emotion during the examination of the three strongest witnesses against him.

The case progressed rapidly
Thursday but the closing of the prosecution's side came sooner than was expected.

Joseph Wendling took the stand in his own defense Thursday night and denied having any knowledge of Alma Kellner, with whose murder he is charged. He declared he left Louisville because of domestic troubles and had absolutely no knowledge of any crime having been committed prior to his departure.

SOCIETY

At the Opera House.

No more interesting offering can well be imagined than that of the production of Powhatan, the Indian comic opera, which will appear at the Winchester opera house on Thursday, December 15.

It has for its principal theme the capture of John Smith by the Indians and his thrilling rescue by Pocahontas the beautiful Indian Princess, an historical incident well known.

There will be a tribe of Indians, composed of Indian maidens, warriors, papooses, Indian feather girls (Indian dance characteristic) and a band of little braves of Powhatan in paint and feathers.

All are in beautiful costume, of a kind of barbaric splendor, bead and fringe work, in bright colors galore, producing a most fantastic charming and unique effect, under the special electrical appliances.

There is a splendid cast of characters, an effective and well trained chorus of Indian girls, and the enactment, bids fair to excel most offerings of amateur production.

The opera is being given under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, under the personal direction of Mr. Albert L. Baker, who comes to our city with the best endorsement from other towns and cities where he has had charge of similar production along operative lines.

The Artist and the Hallucinate. The interior vision of the artist cannot be likened to that of one who is really the victim of hallucinations.

I know both states perfectly well; an abyss yawns between them. In hallucination properly so called there is always terror; you fear that your personality is escaping you; you think that you are going to die. In poetic vision, on the contrary, there is a feeling of happiness, of something entering into you.—Flaubert.

She's Taking It Off.

Along about 9 o'clock every night, continuing till 12, a great sigh is heard, as if from many who have suffered long and at last found relief. Sometimes it comes from many throats, and sometimes, as the hours grow later, not from so many throats, but the sigh is louder, indicating that the relief is greater, says the Atchison (Kan.) Globe. It was a sigh of relief from women all over the world taking off their corsets at the close of a day.

Discovered.

Little Violet was one day examining a beehive which was new to her. Being disturbed, the bees came out of their hive and one of them stung her. Tears came into her eyes, but she quickly dried them and cried triumphantly: "Now I know who takes the needles out of mamma's cushion."—Deineator.

You'll Find That, In Greatly Increasing

Numbers, men of most critical taste in clothes, men who can afford the best of things to wear, are coming to see the real value and the economy of fine ready-made garments. Very few men have their shoes made to measure now-a-days; shoes ready-made are the almost universal rule. Once in a while a man with an abnormally large head has to have a hat made for him; but he so rare as not to count.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

It's the same way more and more in clothes; the advantages of having clothes made to measure are rather doubtful unless you have it done by some one of the few great masters of the art; and even these advantages are more than offset by the disadvantages of long delay, of uncertainty as to fit and general satisfaction. When a man can step into a store like ours, and try on, ready-made, such clothes as these of

Hart Schaffner & Marx

It's amazing to us that anybody ever thinks of buying any other clothes. Not only by comparison with made-to-order clothes, but compared with any other clothes ready-made, we really can't see why any man should think of wearing any other.

There's certainly no question about style; Hart Schaffner & Marx are style creators; many custom tailors and many makers of clothes copy what they originate; you'll find The Style Book in many a tailoring establishment, used as a guide. As for quality of fabrics and excellence of tailoring, you don't get any better, no matter who makes your clothes; all-wool, always, in a market where there's so much cotton adulteration that even the custom tailor isn't always trustworthy on quality. Hart Schaffner & Marx have the best tailors in the world.

As for fit, there's the point most of you hesitate about; but it's the easiest of all. For if these clothes don't fit you, don't take them; and you're not out anything but a few minutes' time. But we can fit you, or any other man; better fit than you'll get anywhere else.

Come and let us show you these clothes; they're worth seeing.

MARKETS

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—WHEAT—The local wheat trade is in the attitude of trying to bull futures on possible accident to the new crop without any possibility of disposing of the surplus from 1910 crop at the present price level. A group of pit leaders made special efforts on the buying side yesterday and were partly successful in forcing a three-quarter cent advance, but it was noted they had to come to the support of the market and give it a rally on close trades in the face of natural selling pressure. If snowfall over the southwest puts an end to the drought talk the local bulls will lose about their only argument.

CORN—The big shorts have covered large lines during the past week. Before the day was over some leading houses were active on the selling side and the market closed a sixteenth lower for May with cash corn high and wheat strong, showing a natural tendency to react from recent advance.

OATS—Temporary bulges are due to covering in corn and now that the principal shorts have reduced their lines the two markets are likely to act together and show heaviness if there is the movement expected this month with fine weather.

PROVISIONS—Gelt says 26,000 hogs are on the market against 34,000 estimated and 25,000 last year. There has been much buying during the past week by a class of brokers supposed to be working for the packers and stock yards interests.

COTTONSEED MEAL
FOR WORK HORSES.

The Iowa experiment station recently has done a good deal of experimental work to determine the effects produced by substituting rich concentrated feeds for oats in the rations for work horses. Special attention was given to the effect produced upon the health of the horses and their ability to endure hard work as well as maintain their flesh and condition and also the economy of the ration.

The first experiment included three teams of horses and continued for 100 days. They were started on a ration of corn and oats of equal parts by weight, in which later oilmeal was substituted for oats in a ratio of about 15 to 1. The horses seemed to relish the pea size oilmeal more than the ground product, and so it was fed in this form. When gluten feed was substituted in the ration for comparison with oilmeal it was found that some of the horses did not relish the feed and did not eat it readily. In this case the use was soon discontinued. Such animals as did eat it, however, seemed to endure the work practically as well as those receiving oilmeal.

Cottonseed meal gave probably the best results of any of the feeds substituted for oats. It was very readily eaten by the horses and was found efficient in maintaining the health and weight of the horses.

The general conclusion reached from the experiments indicated that the health and endurance of the horses were the same when fed corn with a moderate amount of any of the three feeds tested as when fed corn and oats as a ration.

Example of Common Sense.
"Let there be no strife between me and thee, and between thy herdsmen and my herdsmen, for we are brethren. Is not the whole land before thee? Separate thyself, I pray thee, from me. If thou wilt take the left hand then I will go to the right; or if thou depart to the right hand then I will go to the left." An example of common sense to recommend to all unmixable neighbors, relatives and fellow citizens.

Founder of Physical Geography.
Alexander Humboldt may be considered the founder of the science of physical geography. His great work, the "Cosmos," written after he was seventy-six years old, was the first scientific description of the world. It is a work of supreme and abiding value, notwithstanding the fact that many new things have been learned since the time of its publication.

One Stipulation.
Two golfers at Pinehurst, one of them an amateur who had been runner-up in several big tournaments, were starting out, and a friend from Chicago, who was leaving that afternoon and had packed his clubs, started to walk around with them. "You can go," said the classy amateur, "if you won't talk."
